

I am proud to be one of five original co-sponsors of H. Res. 523, condemning Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad's threats against Israel. As I said on the House floor today, the leader of Iran delivered his own version of Mein Kampf, committing Iran to a policy of genocide against Israel. He told us that he seeks to kill another six million Jews along with more than a million Arab-Israelis. The President of Iran's speech was not religious; it was genocidal. Every generation is tested by dictators, and the Iranians are becoming our generation's test. Let us join with the United Nations and moderate Muslim nations to say that we have read the lessons of history, and we will now act collectively to stop them. This is our generation's test, and we owe it to our grandparents who opposed the dictators of the past to take this collective action before the danger against millions grows.
